DOMAINE VALENTIN ZUSSLIN - HAUT RHIN

The work carried out by brother Jean-Paul and sister Marie Zusslin, the 14th generation, who have continued the family tradition dating back to 1691, is exemplary. Located in Orschwihr, they have built a passionate team that is always attentive to detail and committed to excellence. Constantly innovating, they develop new projects such as installing beehives and hundreds of birdhouses, producing single malt whiskies and gin, and acquiring lieu-dits.

Marie oversees sales, while Jean-Paul manages the vineyards (16 ha) and the cellar, but all key decisions are made together. Since 1997, thanks to their late father, the estate has been farmed biodynamically. Before that, it was cultivated organically, and in their grandparents' time, traditional methods prevailed—no chemicals were used, and all work was carried out by hand. The cellar was also rebuilt in this spirit, with rainwater recovery systems and environmentally friendly materials. Their winemaking is precise and meticulous, with a constant focus on expressing the identity of each lieu-dit.

LA GRANGE DE L'ONCLE CHARLES - HAUT RHIN

Jérôme François first trained as a carpenter before studying to become a sommelier. From a few rows of vines inherited from his grandfather, and after moving into the family barn belonging to his uncle Charles, a farmer, Jérôme François created the winery “La Grange de l’Oncle Charles.” The domaine was established in early 2014 in Ostheim, Alsace.

The vineyards, meadows, and orchards are farmed biodynamically, with the utmost respect for ancestral traditions. Today, Jérôme cultivates 5.5 hectares of vineyards located in Ammerschwihr, Zellenberg, Kaysersberg, Rodern, and Riquewihr, where grapes are planted in complantation and yield an average of 25 hl/ha. Jérôme believes that wine should express its terroir authentically; it is the responsibility of the vigneron to ensure quality with minimal intervention. Since 2019, his friend Morgane Stoquert has joined as a partner. Together, Jérôme and Morgane represent a new generation of natural vignerons in Alsace, already producing wines of remarkable character.

BEAUJOLAIS

Certified Organic

AUX ARDENTS - BROUILLY

Domaine Aux Ardents is owned and run by a husband-and-wife team, Mylène (a lawyer) and Thomas (a car mechanic). Both are natives of the region, though neither came from the wine world. In 2019, driven by curiosity and a shared vision, they decided to take the leap and create Domaine Aux Ardents.

The winery is based in Odenas, with approximately 80% of the vineyards located around their house in Brouilly, and the remaining 20% in Marchamp, Beaujolais-Villages. The total vineyard surface is 2.2 hectares.

The estate has been farmed organically since its inception and officially certified in 2022. Beyond organic farming, Mylène and Thomas are committed to increasing biodiversity by planting trees—almond, cherry, chestnut, and fig—and by installing beehives throughout the vineyards, creating a living, balanced ecosystem.

This attention to terroir continues through a philosophy of minimal intervention: hand-harvested grapes, gentle pressing in a horizontal wooden-cage press, native yeast fermentation, and no added sulfites until bottling.

BORDEAUX

Biodynamic Farming

DOMAINE UCHIDA - HAUT-MÉDOC

Born in Hiroshima, Japan, in 1977, Osamu Uchida grew up with parents who owned a wine shop and a grandfather who was a rice farmer. His dream of making wine led him to move to France in 1999 to study viticulture and oenology in Bordeaux.

After completing his studies in 2001, Osamu continued his training at several renowned wineries: Clusel-Roch in Côte-Rôtie, Vial Magnère in Banyuls, L'Arrivée Haut-Brion in Bordeaux, as well as vineyards in the Loire and Savoie. After a long search, he found a small and isolated plot in Cissac-Médoc, Bordeaux. In 2015, Osamu began with 0.6 ha of 30-year-old Cabernet Sauvignon, planted on 15 inches of sandy topsoil over clay and limestone. This terroir allows the grapes to ripen with balance and naturally low alcohol. The parcel, surrounded by forest, is farmed organically with meticulous care, and since 2019, biodynamically. From this vineyard comes the cuvée Miracle. Today, Osamu cultivates 2.4 ha across five biodynamic plots in the Haut-Médoc, producing between 3,000 and 5,000 bottles annually. In his small garage cellar, grapes are fully destemmed by hand and gently placed into a large wooden tank for a two-week maceration at cool temperatures. They are then pressed, and part of the juice ferments and ages for one year in terracotta vessels and 500L used oak barrels. No filtration or fining is employed, fermentation is carried out with wild yeasts, and only minimal sulfur is added before bottling. Osamu's wines are all about finesse, elegance, and drinkability. Bordeaux as a whole is evolving and rising in quality, and among its more adventurous winemakers, Osamu Uchida clearly stands out as one of the new faces of the region—his farming and winemaking approach uncommon, and his story that of a man uniquely driven by passion.

PIERRE-HENRI ROUGEOT - COTE DE BEAUNE/COTE DE NUITS

Raised at the family estate in Meursault, Pierre-Henri Rougeot launched his own micro-négociant project in 2017. Working with trusted organic and biodynamic growers, he crafts tiny-lot cuvées from celebrated Côte d'Or appellations including Meursault "Sous la Velle," Volnay-Santenots, Pommard, Beaune, and Gevrey-Chambertin.

In the cellar, Pierre-Henri follows a minimal-intervention philosophy: whole-cluster fermentations for reds, direct pressing for whites, sur-lie aging, and no fining or filtration. Sulfur is avoided during vinification and used only in trace amounts at bottling, while oak is kept subtle to preserve terroir expression.

The result is a collection of wines that are pure, vibrant, and precise — Burgundian in elegance yet modern in energy. With production limited to just a few thousand bottles per year, Pierre-Henri Rougeot represents the new generation of Burgundy négociants, combining family tradition with a forward-looking, natural touch.

EMMANUEL BROCHET - MONTAGNE DE REIMS

When you meet with Emmanuel, you quickly realize that he chose the right path. Emmanuel is a passionate man about his craft. In 1997, he became the first generation in his family of Champagne maker. The vineyards are located in the little village of Villers-Aux-Noeux in the Montagne de Reims on the lieu-dit "Le Mont Benoit". The single vineyard of 2.5ha is planted with Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier and situated on a slope divided in two parts; on the upper level the oldest vines were planted in 1962, on the lower level the youngest in 1984. The soil is made of silt, clay and chalk. Emmanuel's approach is artisanal in the vineyards and in the cellar, all the work is done by him and almost entirely by hand. In 2011, the estate was certified organic though Emmanuel has farmed for the last 10 years without any chemicals. As he says the main goal is for the plant to find its balance without stressing it. In the cellar, he uses a traditional vertical press. It allows him to press with precision some small batches. Only the cuvee is selected and brought to barrique for fermentation which is carried naturally, a small amount of SO2 is added after the malo ends. All the wines are Extra-Brut and the production is around 8,000 to 12,000 bottles. His main cuvee called Le Mont Benoit Extra Brut is an assemblage mostly of 2 vintages. His wines are really pure, precise and showing minerality combined with ripeness and great pleasure.

LAURENT BENARD - VALLÉE DE LA MARNE

Laurent & Michelle Benard are fourth-generation Champagne growers based in Mareuil-sur-Aÿ. After developing health problems from years of exposure to agricultural chemicals, Laurent and Michelle created Champagne Laurent Benard in the mid-2000s, dedicating part of their 8-hectare estate to organic and biodynamic farming. They have gradually expanded the organically farmed vineyards ever since. The chalky soils of Mareuil-sur-Aÿ are planted primarily with Pinot Meunier, followed by Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. A microbiology engineer and former researcher specializing in yeasts at the C.N.R.S., Laurent combines scientific expertise with minimal-intervention winemaking. Fermentations rely on indigenous yeasts, sulfur is kept to an absolute minimum, and the wines are aged for several years on the lees before being released as Extra-Brut Champagnes. Since 2020, their son Charles Benard, an agronomy engineer and oenologist, has progressively taken over the biodynamic farming and winemaking. Together, Laurent and Charles continue to refine expressive, terroir-driven Champagnes known for their depth, saline character, and sense of place.

MAISON JEROME LEFEVRE - CHAMPAGNE DELALOT / CHAMPAGNE JEROME LEFEVRE - VALLÉE DE LA MARNE

Jérôme Lefevre hails from the western edge of the Marne Valley, in Saulchery, Charly-sur-Marne, Bonneil, and Crogy, where he produces Champagne Delalot and his experimental label Champagne Jérôme Lefevre. After a career as an art critic and curator, his passion for wine led him to pursue organic certification in 2009, inspired by the natural farming philosophy of Masanobu Fukuoka.

Since his first harvest in 2013, Jérôme has farmed his 2.1 ha of south-facing sandy and clay soils like a gardener, producing highly limited wines (≈ 5,000 bottles). Each cuvée reflects its parcel and a spirit of experimentation, always respectful of terroir.

In 2017, he created his micro-négoce Champagne Jérôme Lefevre, pushing boundaries with wines such as Rated X (a no-dosage Champagne with residual sugar and crisp acidity) and Coteaux Champenois Composition #1 (red grapes vinified white, aged in barrel with oxidative touches).

At the forefront of Champagne's new generation, Jérôme Lefevre offers wines that combine authenticity, creativity, and the thrill of discovery.

THOMAS DE MARNE - COTE DES BAR

A New Chapter has started!

Thomas De Marne, the son of Valerie Frison, is the second generation of grower and producer of his family based in Ville-sur-Arce Cote des Bar. After obtaining his wine degree and in same time working at Domaine Yoyo in Banyuls-sur-Mer, Thomas with his partner Florie Pilaes moved back to Champagne. In 2018, he started working with his mother assisting and learning from her in the vineyards and the cellar. In 2020, Thomas became the new owner of the 6ha Domaine. Finally, a new name was established for the labels "Thomas De Marne". Most of the estate is composed of kimmeridgian soil with a small portion of portlandian. Thomas continues to practice organic farming (since 2003). As for the winery and the winemaking, same practices, grapes are harvested ripe, direct press, native yeasts fermentation and aging in 228 L barrels, full malo, the right amount of SO2 when needed, he uses MCR and selected yeasts for the second fermentation and the champagne are disgorged without dosage. Thomas recently purchased some new 500L and 600L barrels and is experimenting with them. Another novelty, is Thomas's first cuvee called Holisitique, this is a Brut Nature Blanc de Noirs including a good portion of portlandian soil + kimmeridgian.

VOUETTE & SORBÉE - COTE DES BAR

Champagne Vouette & Sorbee is the creation of husband and wife Bertrand & Helene Gautherot. The Domaine is situated in Buxieres-Sur-Arce in the Cote des Bar. Five hectares of Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Blanc planted on Kimmeridgian slopes and a small part on Portlandian called Sorbee. Since 1998, the vineyards are farmed in biodynamie and certified Demeter. For years, the farming has been very mindful of the environment: compost made on the estate, only use of horse or light tractor, fruit trees reintroduced, domesticated cows... The Champagne is made in an artisanal and natural way since the first release in 2001 of Fidèle. Fidèle is a reminder to remain simple and natural in the cellar: 100% pinot noir, one harvest, only wild yeast, no chaptalization, 100% vinification in oak, 100% natural malo, no dosage. This minimalist approach in the winemaking will be the same with Saignee de Sorbée (2003) and Blanc d'Argile (2004). Heloise, their daughter has joined the Domaine in 2019! She has already brought her own ideas to share and implement. Today all decisions are made with her and her father.

DOMAINE DE LA PATELLE - JURA (Arbois)

Pascal Thereau is an upfront, young, and sincere person—he tells it like it is, and his wines reflect this: transparent and alive. For many years, he dedicated his professional life to the art of sourcing wood and crafting barrels. In 2018, he began part-time studies in Beaune while also working at Domaine Tissot under the guidance of his mentor, Stéphane.

In 2021, Pascal produced his first cuvée, “Coup de Feu”, a 100% Chardonnay from a tiny 1-acre parcel in Arbois called “La Regole.”

In 2022, he acquired additional parcels from both Tissot and Domaine les Bodines. Today, alongside La Regole, the estate spans 6 hectares across several notable lieu-dits: Les Tourillons – 4.3 acres situated above the village of Arbois, planted with Savagnin on limestone soils - Les Bodines – 8 acres of mostly clay and limestone soils, planted with Pinot Noir, Poulsard, and Trousseau - Les Corvées – 0.5 acre planted with Chardonnay on black marl.

Pascal farms organically, and his vineyards have been certified since 2023. In the cellar, minimal intervention guides his philosophy: the reds are aged in tanks to preserve a fruit-forward style, while the whites ferment in barrels and are then aged in a mix of vessels—barrels, amphoras, concrete, or wooden tanks.

The winery is named La Patelle, after a small kiosk located in the lieu-dit Les Tourillons and built in the shape of a patella shell. The original structure, long abandoned, was meticulously rebuilt by Pascal in its original form.

COTEAUX DU VAL DE SORNE - VERNANTOIS

Surrounded by major hills south of Lons-le-Saunier, the vineyards of Vernantois were once part of an ancient estate that belonged to the abbey of Saint-Claude. In the 19th century, Vernantois became one of the first villages in Jura dedicated to winemaking. It has always preserved this tradition, similar to other great villages such as Pupillin and Château-Chalon. Born and raised in a family with a great passion for organic farming, Jean-François Ryon started his domaine in 1992 with only 1 ha. Today, he owns 2.6 ha divided into seven parcels, planted with Chardonnay, Savagnin, Poulsard, and Trousseau. Each parcel bears the name of previous vigneron: Alphonse, Henri, Jean, Michel, Roger, and, for the new one, “écorche-chien” and “a la lice.” In the beautiful vaulted 16th-century cellar, the winemaking is done with indigenous yeasts and no additives. Most cuvées are bottled without the addition of SO2, without fining, and without filtration. The total production over the last few years has averaged 7,000 bottles. Jean-François is a man of tremendous culture, with a sharp mind and sarcastic humor. He is not someone who can travel easily; therefore, you won't find his wines outside of Jura and Japan.

DOMAINE BENOIT COURAULT - ANJOU

Benoit Courault is a young and established vigneron in Faye d'Anjou, a little village south of Angers along the Layon river. Not a son of a winemaker, early on, Ben decided to study wine. He went to Beaune. From 2003 until 2006, he worked with the famous vigneron Eric Pfifferling from Domaine L'Anglore in Tavel. Back to his native Loire, he found 5ha of vineyards and started his estate in 2006. Ben's aim is to propose authentic wines of excellent quality produced with a constant concern for the natural balance of life cycles, a statement that you will find on his label “Vignes cultivées dans le respect du vivant”. Ben's practices are simple and traditional, organic farming, use of the horse, natural vinification, very little use of sulfites, no fining and no filtration. Today, Benoit's estate has grown to 9ha on the plateau of Faye d'Anjou. The next step is a new winery to make and age the wines.

DOMAINE DES FRÈRES - CHINON

Domaine des Freres was created by two brothers, Henri and Valentin. They grew up near Chinon. They became engineers and worked in this field for several years when they both realized that they were not fit to stay in an office. Passionate about wine, Henri was the first to dive in. In 2013, he went back to school in Bergerac and obtained a degree in viticulture and oenology. He began his Tour de France in the South West, Loir et Cher and Touraine. His most impactful experience was his time spent with Patrick Corbineau, who became his mentor. In 2015, Valentin followed and graduated from the school of Mâcon. First, he worked with Yvon and Jules Métras. He also worked with and learned from other excellent wine producers such as Philippe Chigard and Bernard Baudry. After looking for two years, in October 2019 they took over a unique estate in Beaumont-en-Véron. 27 acres planted with vines between 35 and 50 years old and on a hillside containing 6 different and distinct terroirs. The property also includes a beautiful wine cellar cut into the local tuffeau limestone. The farming is organic with biodynamic practices, harvest is done by hand and picked very early in the morning so the grapes arrive cold. The first harvest was in September 2020. In just a few years both brothers have gained a quick reputation in France and outside. In late 2022, Henri decided to start a new project and left Domaine des Freres. Valentin along with his wife Marie are solely in charge.

DOMAINE DU CHAPITRE - CHENONCEAUX/TOURAINE

Domaine du Chapitre is a vineyard managed by siblings Maryline and François DESLOGES. It is based in Saint Romain sur Cher in the Loire Valley area and was founded at the beginning of the XIX century. François made his first harvest in 1982 and Maryline joined the vineyard a couple of years later. As 5th generation winemakers, their aim is to produce high quality wines reflecting the specific terroir of Touraine and Touraine Chenonceaux. The team is also composed by François's son Valentin, a 6th generation of winemaker. Valentin is in charge of the vineyard and the winemaking process with his father. The Domaine du Chapitre farms 28 hectares of vines (15-45 year old vines) in two AOP: Touraine and Touraine Chenonceaux, both on the bank of the Cher river. The terroir is comprised of different soil types. Sand with flint is dominant near the Cher river while clay and limestone is found further North. The Domaine du Chapitre Vineyard has been practicing sustainable farming for many years, and will start the organic certification in 2022. For example, they have been using soft tillage, letting more land to go uncultivated and also increased biodiversity with beehives throughout in the vineyard. The wines are quite aromatic with ripe flavors of citrus and grapefruit, mouthfeel is full and yet fresh, nice and long finish showing a slight mineral quality.

LE P'TIT VAILLANT

DOMAINE LES GRANDES VIGNES - ANJOU

Since the XVII century, located in the village of Thouarce in Anjou, the Vaillant family has passed on from generations to generations their farmed land. For the last twenty years, sister and brothers have cultivated the estate using the biodynamic principles. The goal is to express the personality of each wines. 55ha of vines of Chenin Blanc, Cabernet Franc, Grolleau and Pineau d'Aunis are planted. The diversity of their cuvees is due to the different type of soils and exposure found: schist sandstone, quartz, gravel, clay. Biodynamic farming allows them a comprehensive approach to the plant and the environment based on the influences that come from the earth, air and water. The vines thrive in the best possible environment, which makes them less susceptible to pests and limits the applications of copper mixture and sulfur. The development of microbial life in the soil is a priority so that the roots draw all the useful elements from the bedrock. Then, we promote the development of numerous annual and perennial herbs, which provide favorable biodiversity to the ecosystem. In the cellar, they intervene very little on the wines, no exogenous input as well as little transfer. All of their wines are made with No added sulphites, not fined and unfiltered, with the exception of wines with residual sugars (2 to 3 mg / L of SO2). They favor fruit days for racking and bottling. Nearly 300 barrels are the subject of all the attentions to ensure optimum vinification and aging.

LA PORTE SAINT JEAN - SAUMUR CHAMPIGNY

La Porte Saint-Jean was founded in 2010 in Montreuil-Bellay by Sylvain Dittière and his wife Pauline Foucault. Sylvain, known as TonTon, grew up in Saumur in a family of rose growers, later training with Gérard Gauby, Marc Tempé, Thierry Germain, and Antoine Foucault. Returning to the Loire, he set out to craft precise, terroir-driven wines. The domaine now covers about 8.5 hectares, planted mainly to Cabernet Franc on diverse soils—sand, silt, clay, limestone, marl, and flint. The core reds include La Porte Saint-Jean, Les Pouches, and Les Cormiers. Whites come from old parcels of Chenin Blanc and Sauvignon Blanc, yielding La Perlée, Les Pouches Blanc, and Saut Mignon. Farming is fully organic, with biodynamic practices, horse-ploughing, and low yields for purity and concentration. In the cellar, Sylvain insists on natural vinifications: wild yeasts, no fining or filtration, long élevage in used barrels, and only a touch of sulfur at bottling.

DOMAINE HENRI MILAN - VIN DE FRANCE LES BAUX DE PROVENCE

Domaine Milan, at the foot of the Alpilles in Saint-Rémy-de-Provence, has been shaping wines of character since 1955. Henri Milan took over in 1986, steering the estate toward organics and biodynamics with guidance from Claude Bourguignon and Claude Courtois, and focusing on its unique soils of blue marl, limestone, and sandstone. The domaine now farms about 17 hectares planted to Grenache, Syrah, Mourvèdre, Cinsault, Chardonnay, Roussanne, Rolle, and more, producing naturally vinified reds like Le Papillon and Le Clos, and the iconic Grand Blanc, a vibrant blend of all the estate's white grapes. Since 2016, Henri's son Théophile has brought fresh energy, introducing biodynamic preparations and new cuvées such as Kumo, Haru, and Reynard, ensuring Domaine Milan remains one of Provence's most expressive and forward-thinking estates.

DOMAINE MOUTHES LE BIHAN - COTES DE DURAS

Mouthes Le Bihan's winery is located in Saint-Jean-de-Duras the Cotes de Duras, an appellation situated in between Bergerac, l'Entre-Deux-Mers and the Marmandais. It is a small appellation of 2,000 ha where the Bordeaux grapes strive alongside Chenin Blanc. The lovely proprietors originally from Brittany, Jean-Mary and Catherine le Bihan are farmers for few generations. They organically grow cereals, sunflowers, lentils, they have beehives and cows and raise Arabian horses. They own 27 ha of vines spread in many different parcels. Their first vintage was in 2000. The goal is to make honest wine as naturally as possible. Therefore, all the efforts are centered on the vineyards, old vines, managed yields, plowing of the soil, no chemicals (except copper and sulfur), manual harvest in small basket, strict sorting. The estate is certified organic and going through biodynamic certification. In the cellar, minimum intervention is the way to do, only indigenous yeasts, no other entrants except SO2 when needed.

ART LAIETA - D.O. ALELLA

ART LAIETA is a family-run project which started more than twenty years ago by the enologist Josep Maria Pujol-Busquets and his wife Cristina Guillen. AA is the closest winery to Barcelona (10 km), it's located within the agricultural area of a natural park known as the "Serralada de Marina". The estate is just two km away from the Mediterranean sea and the vineyards are planted on slopes and terraces between 100 and 250 meters above the sea level. The vines are grown on Sauló soil which is one of the most important element that determines the characters of wines from Alta Alella: an acidic white granite-based sand with low limestone content, low organic matter and good drainage. Fleeing from standardization, year after year, Josep Maria's aim is to produce 'transparent' wines, that reflect soil and vintage characteristics. The harvest is carried out by hand, paying individual attention to each plant. Currently, the winery farms 60 ha within the D.O Alella (the smallest D.O. in Spain) and the D.O. Cava. The cava ages on the lees between 15 and 60 months and is released on the market just after being disgorged (the disgorgement date appears on every bottle). Few years ago, his daughter Mireia took over step by step many aspects of the winery.

CELLER DE LES AUS - D.O. ALELLA
Celler de les Aus which means "The house of Birds" was born in the mid-2000's. Once a wine made out friendship it became a boutique winery focused on farming organically and crafting natural wines. The friendship was between two men, one a sommelier and the other Joseph Maria Pujol winemaker and owner of Alta Alella. They decided to craft a naturally made Cava with no addition of enzymes, yeasts, sugar, sulfites, no fining, no filtration. Just the juice going through an ancestral method, today this wine is called Bruant, which is the name of a local bird. From that time on, Celler de les Aus has produced several other wines in small quantities, all bearing the name of birds and naturally made. Located in the heart of the smallest DO of Spain Alella, the soil here is made of a mix of sand and granite called Saulo. The grapes are always handharvested and sorted several times before entering the winery. Though, Joseph Maria loves to experiment with Mataro and the very rare Pansa Rosada (only 5ha remaining in the world), the focus is on the Pansa Blanca (Xarel-lo) grape from the DO Alella right north of Barcelona along the sea. Few years ago, his daughter Mireia took over step by step many aspects of the winery.
